Cookies

'Cookie' is a name for a small file, usually of letters and numbers, which is downloaded onto your device, like your computer, mobile phone or tablet, when you visit a website. They let websites recognise your device, so that the sites can work, or work better, and also gather information about how you use the site. A cookie, by itself, can't be used to identify you.

How do we use cookies?

We use cookies to distinguish you from other users of our website. This helps us to provide you with a good experience when you visit our website and allows us to improve our site.

The cookies we use

We use the categorisation set out by the International Chamber of Commerce in their UK Cookie Guide. We use three categories of cookies:

- Strictly necessary cookies are essential for you to move around our website and to use its features.
- Performance cookies collect anonymous information about how you use our site, like which pages you visited. No information that identifies you is kept. By using our website, you agree that we can place these types of cookies on your device.
- Functionality cookies remember choices you make to improve your experience, like your text size or location. They may be used to provide services you have requested, such as watching a video or commenting on a blog. They are anonymous. By using our website, you agree that we can place these types of cookies on your device.

The fourth category, marketing cookies, help advertisers to track your preferences. These are not used on St Luke's website.

Opting out

You can opt out of all our cookies (except the strictly necessary ones). If you choose to refuse all cookies you may not be able to use our website properly. You can find out how to control and delete cookies in your browser settings. If you have any questions about how we use cookies, please contact us on 020 4546 7000 or email enquiries@stlukesforclergy.org.uk.
